HAVDALAH AFTER: 5:49 PM

Parashat YITRO... In Western religious literature, no passage has had a greater influence or remains a greater challenge than the Ten Commandments. To this day the events at Mount Sinai are a mystery. Our sages explained that the Torah was given in the desert, which belonged to no one nation, to teach that Torah is not the exclusive possession of one people, but belongs to all humanity.

Tu Bishvat Seder Review

By Susan Bahaloul, Sisterhood President

On Wednesday evening, January 24 at 6:30 PM, our Annual Tu Bishvat Seder began at the Sephardic Temple. Tu Bishvat, the New Year for the Trees, marks the awakening of nature after being asleep for the colder winter months. Rabbi Golden and Cantor Yonati led the service with prayers, songs, and food. The service was a happy service. Congregants responded to the prayers and drank multi-hued grape juices while sampling the almonds, raisins, olives, figs, and dates that were being celebrated. Rabbanit Shira Golden's beautiful voice and melodious cadence helped us follow along in the Haggadah. Although it is not the season for pomegranates, we also drank some delicious pomegranate juice that was specially procured by Rabbi Golden. When the service was completed, we were treated to a delicious spread from Traditions: deli wraps and sandwiches with all the trimmings - including a platter of roasted vegetables and sweet and sour chicken. A good time was had by all that included friendly conversation with fellow congregants. With everyone's busy lives, there are too few times to be together with Temple friends at social occasions and this event was a huge success. My husband Albert and I personally had a wonderful time and hope to see everyone here in good health for next year's Tu Bishvat Seder.
