Parashat SHELAH LEKHA... The story of the twelve spies in Shelah is an example of the close connection between self-perception and human potential. Upon returning from the Promised Land, ten of the spies bemoan their fear of the land's "mighty" inhabitants. They tell the people, "We looked like grasshoppers to ourselves, so we must have looked to them". The Israelites were not allowed to enter the land not because they could not conquer it, but rather because they could not overcome their self-doubts.

Reflections on our Shabbat of Reconsecration & Journal Testimonial

in Honor of Marion Crespi

by Isaac Mayo, Temple President

This past Shabbat, June 22, 2024 after a very spiritual and moving Reconsecration Service to memorialize our past leaders, the Sephardic Temple held our Sixty-First Annual Testimonial Luncheon. Around 250 people attended this event to honor an outstanding woman who has devoted her service to the Jewish community for much of her lifetime. This honor was bestowed upon Marion Crespi.

The experience was coordinated by a team effort which included the following people: Rabbi Golden, Mel Matsil, Russ Posner, Ashley Rothbart and Executive Director Lloyd Denenberg. Impressive accolades were delivered by the team, a commemorative plaque was presented to Marion Crespi, and blessings were given by her son Neil Crespi and two daughters Sheryl Blit and Roni Geller. So what more can be asked for?

The answer was the magnificent fellowship which followed the religious services. A catered luncheon provided by Genadeen permitted the amazing crowd to meet and greet each other on an intimate level to discuss the history that past the hours before.

All in all, it was a five star event, well-deserving to herald a woman and her family for their service and dedication to the Sephardic Temple and community.
